Background:

TotalDairy Seminar (previously the Large Herds Conference) is the leading technical dairy conference in Europe.

2019 will be the 14th year of running.

It is organised by Evidence Group in conjunction with Warwick Bastard (Model Nutrition), who founded the conference along with Richard Vecqueray in 2005.

The conference attracts over 400 delegates – an even mix of progressive dairy producers, veterinary surgeons, consultants and other dairy industry professionals. Delegates attend from around the world, making the event a key networking opportunity.

TotalDairy Ethos:

“Delivering Global Dairy Expertise”

We aim to bring the leading experts in all areas of dairy herd management from around the world to deliver the latest research and ideas relating to the dairy industry.

We are renowned for the quality of speaker programme on offer, with speakers in the main sessions chosen by the organising panel and with no commercial bias.

Format:

TotalDairy seminar is a 2 days conference. Lectures take place in the main seminar room with a minimum of 3 additional parallel break-out sessions taking place at any one time. Delegates book their place in the breakout sessions prior to the conference, as places in these is limited (max 100).

The exhibition area is the focus for networking during the event, with refreshments served in this area during the coffee breaks and lunches. Sponsors for the event have an exhibition stand in this area (area and size of stand dependent upon the level of sponsorship).

The conference dinner takes place on the first night (Wednesday) in the conference hotel.

TotalDairy Seminar 2019

Our theme for 2019 is “2020 Dairying: Challenges and Opportunities”. As we move towards the next decade there are significant challenges for the dairy industry. These range from labour shortages and environmental challenges to the issue of public perception of the dairy industry – we aim to highlight some of these issues and discuss potential solutions. The next decade will also bring new advances in our understanding of the dairy cow; we aim to present some of the most recent research in a range of rapidly developing fields such as the rumen and mammary microbiomes.
